Deposition Services

RDS Court Reporters report deposition and court proceedings as well as public hearings, arbitrations, meetings and conventions. We also serve the business community and the hearing impaired by providing captioning and realtime reporting services. RDS offers a full complement of reporting and document management solutions.

Loyalty

Customer Loyalty

Relationships

We pride ourselves on establishing and maintaining strong relationships with attorneys, court officials, public entities, businesses and community groups that we serve. The primary advantage offered by RDS is found in the vast experience of our employees. That experience is incorporated in the thoughtful and creative approach we bring to the different challenges associated with the various needs of our clients. The loyalty of our clients is due, in large measure, to our ability to communicate effectively and provide high quality services in a timely fashion. Our selection and training process ensures that each reporter exhibits extraordinary professionalism, reporting accuracy and dependable transcript production. At RDS, our experience and attention to detail are the foundation for our relationships.

The Latest in Litigation Support

Technology Support

RDS utilizes the newest litigation support technologies. We have implemented on-site Videoconferencing to supplement our Videography Department powered by Legal Video Services. Our Litigation Support Services division was established to meet the various needs of our clients regarding document management, including photocopying along with scanning, coding and electronic discovery. We use encrypted transcript delivery via E-transcript™ and professional grade scanners and scanning software in addition to the technological advances associated with Legal Video's synchronization of video/text to better service our customers.

Providers

A Multiple of Service Providers

National Network

RDS has developed a national network of service providers to accommodate service needs regardless of where they may arise. For large, nationwide cases, we also offer our clients the option of customized billing and centralized storage of all transcripts. All of our transcripts, including exhibits, are backed up with an electronic file as a convenience for the occasionally misplaced transcript.
